Full Stack Developer
At Magazine Médica, we work on the maintenance and development of our e-commerce platform, built in Django (Python). We were the first in the hospital sector to implement PIX for payments. Additionally, we optimize high-complexity data queries, create Progressive Web Apps (PWA) and Trusted Web Activities (TWA) to enhance the user experience, and utilize scikit-learn's linear regression for forecasting. Our approach is centered on innovation and delivering an exceptional shopping experience.

Data Migration Specialist
As a data migration specialist from September 2018 to September 2019, I had a year-long experience dedicated to data migration, where I excelled in handling data migration projects. My expertise included working with PHP and various relational databases. During this time, I honed my skills in PostgreSQL and MySQL, demonstrating proficiency in managing database systems. I focused on migrating data from various systems to the IXC data model, ensuring smooth and accurate data transitions.
